

27th and 28th January 2021
Radisson Blu Antwerp

The industrial and medical gases industry has a good safety performance. However, incidents and injuries still happen, typically in transport, in cylinder handling, and with slips, trips and falls.

Behavioural Safety is one of the most relevant causes for these injuries, as well as being a contributing factor in rare major accidents. The EIGA Winter Seminar 2021 on Behavioural Safety will:

- demonstrate the impact on safety performance
- explain the psychological aspects, considering the newest knowledge in neuroscience
- present innovative training methodologies
- share best practices in Behavioural Safety management
- suggest how to promote a Safety Culture
- highlight the role of leadership
- show how Behavioural Safety can affect emergency response

Who should attend?
